To Spitfire Communications LLC

Ladies and Gentlemen,

I chose your company's training program because I needed some guidance on how to launch my company. I did not know many people in the US, since I am from Europe, and I wanted to know how to efficiently use the few contacts I had, and see how I could expand my network.

During each session, we covered one specific area of networking and communication. Thanks to your insights, I started asking myself the right questions and finding their answers. The program help me gain a better knowledge of how networking is supposed to function and how it can propel you forward if used wisely.

Every class was tailored to my needs and theory was immediately applicable to real life. Session after session I learned how to organize and maximize the contacts I had. I learned how to achieve self confidence during social events. I started having a much greater insight into people and situations. The experience I gained will stay with me and will help me expand my business and grow as an individual.

As far as I am concerned, your training program was a huge success. Olivia Fox Cabane managed to make me realize how powerful some of the things you take for granted are. All these new "weapons" make me feel like I am on top of my game and that I can now avoid many of the pitfalls that are laying on the road ahead of me.

As a direct result of your training, our sales improved by 100%.

Thank you Olivia!

Sincerely yours,
Simon Grunberger
